

HE MADE A BLUNDER

Berkman's Murderous Attack Upon H. C. Frick Defeated the Strikers.

MR. CARNEGIE CABLED,

Asking That Concessions Be Made to the Homestead Workers.

RECEIVED A POINTED REPLY.

The Enthusiastic New York Anarchist Now Spending His Days

MAKING HOSE IN THE PENITENTIARY

The Anarchist Berkman, who said he would suicide if given more than a ten years' sentence, is quietly serving out the mere beginning of his more than score years in the penitentiary.

There are 900 convicts in the penitentiary, and many more are expected, as 100 persons charged with penal crimes are awaiting sentence in Allegheny county alone.

One story of the Homestead affair yet remains to be told before the old year ends, and that is the story of the cablegrams between Andrew Carnegie and H. C. Frick.

On the one side of the ocean was the man who was given full and automatic power in the mere management of the great mills, and on the other side was the man who held the balance of financial power in his hands, while neither could exercise his full prerogative without the assistance of the other.

Ever since that memorable riotous day of the sixth of July, one event of such startling import has followed so rapidly upon the heels of the other, that the public believed each time that the crisis between labor and capital had arisen and passed.

But there was only one real crisis in the whole interesting story, and that crisis was met—whether for right or for wrong let future events tell—by one man.

A Wish and a Weapon. That man was Berkman, the ultra-Socialist, born in a foreign land, bred, raised and adopted by the obscurantism of the very lowest of a New World's society, and then cast in the midst of the Homestead problem with a weapon in his hand and what he fondly imagined was a solution of the whole thing.

"Had Berkman never appeared upon the scene I am confident the whole trouble would have been amicably settled," said a gentleman yesterday who has been conversant with the Carnegie company's affairs all through the strike.

"I was talking about the office at the time," continued the gentleman, "that Mr. Carnegie had asked for a trace of some sort. Mr. Frick was even then suffering from an exhibition of anarchistic sentiment in its worst and most murderous form, and for that reason he answered as he did. Had Berkman never made the attempt upon his life, his answer would have been far different."

WANT FIVE MILLIONS.

City Chiefs Will Ask for a Slight Increase Over Last Year.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

Mr. Ligelew Will Like to Replace Old Cobblestone Paving.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF A GREAT CITY

The department chiefs at City Hall have nearly completed their reports for the ten months past of the present fiscal year and the estimates of their next year's expenses.

To-morrow those documents will be sent to the Mayor's office according to law. The chiefs decline to indicate what their figures for the various bureaus are, but from the information gained it is highly probable the total appropriations this year will slightly exceed $5,000,000.

Last year the total was $4,999,802 50. The Department of Public Works received, all told, $1,985,706; Public Safety, $804,100, and Public Charities, $90,000. Interest and taxes on city loans, sinking funds, schools and other necessary expenditures formed the balance.

Chief Bigelow said yesterday his total would not exceed last year's figures. "It may be less," he said, "and I am trying to pare things down as close as possible consistently with the progress which is justified by the city's development."

Much Repaving to Be Done. "An immense amount of repaving should be done next year. There are many old cobblestone streets which should have been fixed up years ago, but we couldn't do all in one year, so repaving the most important ones first is the best way to go."

As the city grows, the streets are paved and farm lands are transformed into populous city districts the expenses of my department decrease. There has been a wonderful growth in the past year. Miles of streets and sidewalks have been laid, and over 70,000 feet of water pipe have been laid and public lighting has been extended wonderfully.

Effect of the City's Growth. "As these improvements extend they increase the expenditures of the Public Works Department. When a street has been paved and sewered it must be lighted and kept clean and it costs more money to do it. Each newly paved street seems as an incentive to the paving of other streets."

The society was not in favor of adopting the reformed system of spelling certain scientific terms, and when brought up the question was promptly dropped.

About 35 applications for membership had been received since the last meeting and were pending action before the council. With a vote of thanks to all persons and corporations who have aided in making their visit to Pittsburgh pleasant, the society adjourned.

The chemists of this city have been thoroughly stirred up by the meeting and will at once separate from the Engineers' Society and form a branch of the American Chemical Society. Heretofore none of the many chemists in Pittsburgh have belonged to this society, but were united with the engineers and it was generally with this object that the meeting was called here. Some of the chemists will visit the Conellville coke region to-day.

LIQUOR LICENSE LAWS DODGED.

Retailers in West Virginia May Simply Act as Agents for Purchasers.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 29. (Special.)—Judge Jacobs, of the Doddridge County Circuit Court, has just rendered an important decision to shippers of liquor. In the case of Flannagan, a liquor dealer of this city, a customer made an order which the dealer shipped C. O. D. by express, and was indicted for selling liquor without a license in that county. The case was tried before a jury and the defendant was acquitted, but the State appealed. Judge Jacobs dismisses the appeal, holding that the sale was made in this county and that the express company was the agent of the purchaser, not of the seller.

CHARGED WITH 30 BUNKO JOBS.

A Noted Buckeye Detective Makes Two Important Captures in Kentucky.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 29.—Detective Norris, the Ohio officer who has gained a national reputation as a chaser of confidence men, was here this morning and presented to the Governor requests from the Governor of Ohio for Hayes and Scribner, the two confidence men now in jail at Paris and wanted here in this county for the two jobs worked on Harrow and Land.

FOUR TRACKS ASSURED.

George P. Fisher, of New York, an engineer and contractor, and a former newspaper man, was in Pittsburgh yesterday. He stopped at Newell's Hotel. He is assisting in the work of laying additional tracks on the Pennsylvania Railroad from Pittsburgh to New York. He says the road will have four tracks between the city and New York before the World's Fair opens.

FOUGHT CONSTABLE JACK.

Constable Jack, of Alderman Kerr's office, was badly used up yesterday while trying to arrest Joseph Harbenbach, of Butler street. Harbenbach's wife made information against him for assault with a battery. He was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing this evening.

A GIRL WITH A TEMPER.

Mary Maloney, 14 years old, of Johnstown, passed through the city yesterday, in charge of a detective, for Morganza. She has threatened to kill her mother and sister, and last week cleared the entire family out of the house and took possession. She had to be locked up to prevent her from harming the children. The girl is possessed of a rightful temper, which her parents are unable to subdue.

COOLEY'S BABE IN THE PENITENTIARY.

Lydia Costorino, Frank Cooley's mistress, was placed in the penitentiary yesterday to serve 18 months. Her 6-month-old babe will keep her company. Warden Wright gave orders to place the woman and her babe, of which she says Frank Cooley is the father, in the hospital ward.

ICE GORGE IN THE RIVER.

The Sudden Rise in the Temperature Increases the Danger From Flooding Ice and High Water—Rivermen Preparing for D—Warmer Weather Promised To-day.

It was with apprehension that the rivermen read the bulletins from the up river points yesterday. The extreme cold weather of the past week had frozen the rivers to a depth of several inches and the promised warm wave threatened to increase the danger of an ice gorge.

Notwithstanding the shallowness of the streams the rivermen began at once to prepare for a heavy rise by securing men to cut away the ice from the low boats at the wharf. Every precaution was taken to prevent the boats and barges being injured by the ice.

Reports indicated that a warm wave was approaching from the West and that it was due here to-day. The temperature will likely rise above the freezing point to be followed by rain. The temperature is likely to go as high as 60°, which would cause a heavy rise in the snow near the headwaters of the Monongahela, Youghiogheny and Allegheny rivers is heavy, while there is heavy ice at all points.

The Ohio at Louisville had been frozen over until yesterday, when it was suddenly released by the warm weather, doing much damage to the locks of the canals and boats in port. All points below Pittsburgh are open, while the ice around this city was breaking up yesterday. To-day the harbor will likely be entirely open, but traffic cannot be resumed for several days, as the floating ice will interfere with navigation.

What is troubling the river men most is danger from ice gorges. The water is very low and nothing is feared should it quickly low and the ice be allowed to float quietly out, but it is probable that on account of the sudden rise in temperature the water will rise rapidly and thus much damage be done to the interests all along the river.

A TEMPERANCE BUREAU

To Be Organized for Mission Work by Local Organizations.

The Executive Board of the Union Temperance Association met yesterday afternoon. The delegates were A. M. Brown, Jos. R. Hunter and J. K. Barbour, of the Murphy Union; J. M. Kelly, A. M. Bryan and S. F. McLaughlin, of the Keeley League; Richard Stevenson and J. W. Moreland, of the Good Templars; John Getman and J. D. Lloyd, of the Sons of Temperance; Ellen M. Watson and Mrs. B. C. Christy, of the W. C. T. U.; Mrs. J. P. Geiman and Mrs. C. E. A. of the C. U. S. T. U.; S. J. Gilson and Mrs. J. P. Cameron, of the Women's Keeley Auxiliary League.

It was decided to invite the Catholic Temperance Association, the Protestant, the Loyal Templars of Temperance and the Reocables to send delegates and join the organization. All the temperance organizations in the towns and counties of this county will be organized into a bureau, the plan adopted by Pittsburgh and the temperance work carried on systematically from this city. A bureau will be organized by the association here which will furnish speakers and workers for the surrounding country on demand.

On Sunday afternoon a union meeting will be held at the Keeley Institute, Fifth avenue, Oakland.

KEPT THE MONEY AND KICKED.

An Insurance Agent Gets Into Trouble and Finally Into Jail.

J. H. Krouse was committed to jail by Squire Madden, of Millvale, yesterday, to await a trial by court on charges of embezzlement and assault and battery, preferred by F. Alpert. Alpert is an insurance agent at Homestead and employed Krouse as an agent. He alleged that Krouse collected $190 belonging to M. M. Tuttle & Co., insurance agents on Fourth avenue, various small sums belonging to other insurance firms, and $200 belonging to himself, and that he had kept the money, and kicked him in the face and kicked him out of the house.

Alpert entered suit before Squire Madden, and on October 3 Krouse was given a hearing and held under $1,000 bail for court, Charles Ritchie, a Southside saloon-keeper, going on his bond.

Krouse was at that time living in Mt. Oliver, but three weeks ago moved away and told no one where he was going. Ritchie learned of this move and surrendered his bond. Detective P. J. Kearney is engaged to locate Krouse and yesterday found him living back of the Twenty-seventh ward schoolhouse and placed him under arrest. Krouse was unable to get another bondsman and was committed.

Both Went Down Together.

Joseph Swank, a Bohemian, while at work in the Keech building, on Penn street, near Ninth street, fell from a scaffold upon which he was standing, breaking his shoulder and injuring his spine. He fell 16 feet. In his fall he caught the collar workman, dragging him to the floor with him, but the latter was not badly hurt. Swank was taken to his home, on East street, Allegheny, and it is feared he cannot recover.

Four Register Out of 300,000.

Only four Chinese in this country out of 300,000 have registered according to the act which gives them until May 3, or excludes them from the country. Deputy Collector Mitchell says none have registered here. Quong Wan Sun, a local Chinaman, says they are all waiting on the big San Francisco companies to advise them. He thinks they intend to test the law.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Morris Ramsey Subjected to an Operation Without Any Hope of Saving His Life—Death but a Short Way Off—A Life of Industry and Success.

Morris Ramsey, General Manager of the Southwest Coal and Coke Company, one of the H. C. Frick interests, is dying at the Sutton Hospital. Mr. Ramsey's home is at Mt. Pleasant, Pa. He has been identified with the coke industry during its entire history. He was originally a miner, then a mine inspector, later a mining engineer, then Superintendent of Mines and finally General Manager of the Southwest Company. He is married and has eight children.

Last May Mr. Ramsey was stricken with a peculiar ailment. He was then a strong, powerful man. The medical skill of the country was called into conference on his case. He was sent to the Sanitarium in the mountains, where the physicians decided that he was suffering with a flooding kidney. His treatment was not beneficial, however, and he was again taken to his home. Dr. Marsh, of Mt. Pleasant, and Sutton, of Pittsburgh, attended him. The patient was finally brought to Dr. Sutton's hospital. His condition continued to grow weaker and it was decided that an operation would be necessary. The physicians agreed that the operation would likely prove fatal, but in any event they were content that death would only be hastened a day or two.

The operation was performed yesterday by Dr. Sutton, Marsh and Litchfield. The patient was subjected to an anesthetic, and he was found to be suffering with cancer of the pancreas. The ailment was found to be necessarily fatal and it is not believed Mr. Ramsey will survive the shock of the operation.

Mr. Ramsey, whose life is limited to a few hours, was one of the substantial props under the successful development of the coke industry. He is regarded by H. C. Frick as one of the best managers in his employ.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Three Footpads Attack and Rob a Well-Known Citizen on Grant Street.

Captain William Dalgleish, the well-known clerk in Clerk of Courts McGonigle's office, was knocked down and robbed at Grant street and Virgin alley on Wednesday night. Three footpads did the work. They secured a gold watch valued at $150, but in their haste jerked it from a chain worth $25 more. The Captain had walked up Virgin alley alone, it being only 10:30 o'clock. The men had been in hiding in Cherry alley and followed him up. They seized him from behind and handled him pretty roughly, but did him no serious injury. After they ran away the Captain notified Police Captain George Waggoner, who subsequently arrested Edward Courtney, George Monom and Henry Hensley. The stolen watch was found in Courtney's pocket. The police allege that the three are old offenders, for whom they have been looking for a long time. Highway robbery has been charged against each of them.

THEY CALLED IT OFF.

They School Fight in Upper St. Clair Township Stops Deductive Ceremonies—The Prof. Smith and Prof. Caldwell-Rival Factions Create Another Scene.

The school fight in Upper St. Clair township culminated yesterday in a row that broke up the dedication of the new McMillan school. The fight occurred over the appointment of Prof. A. G. Smith as teacher in the school at a salary of $50 per month, when some of the members declared that he was not to receive more than $40 per month, as his experience was not sufficient to justify a higher salary. In the midst of all this trouble, Prof. Smith quietly resigned, stating that he did not care for the money involved, but was anxious that justice be done him.

Mr. Smith is teacher in the Beadling Sunday school, which was founded by his employer, the well-known mine owner. He is well thought of in that district, and was invited by Mr. Beadling to attend the dedication of the new McMillan school, with his class of Sunday scholars. The interest in the affair had grown greatly, owing to the fight against Prof. Smith, and a large crowd attended the dedication. Prof. Hamilton made the dedicatory address, the flag was presented by C. P. Mayer and received by Secretary McMillan, and all was peace until Prof. Smith was called upon to give a speech. Prof. J. C. Caldwell, who had been appointed in place of Prof. Smith, was also present, and both men had a strong following. Prof. Smith began his speech very nicely and captivated the audience by his eloquence. He soon drifted away to his own story and his trouble with the St. Clair School Board, and gave his version in good round English. Some of the opposition objected to his terms, and asked that he stop talking, but the bright young Professor refused to listen to their orders. Prof. Caldwell generally lived up to the Chairman's request, and after an adjournment, and the two factions in the little row departed, to wage war whenever opportunity offers.

A Trolley Wire Seize.

A broken trolley wire of the Pleasant Valley electric street car line, at Montgomeri avenue and Federal street, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon created a big lot of excitement. The wire was filled with the full current of electricity, and was writhing and squirting like a rattlesnake for quite a while. Fortunately no damage was done except the delay of the cars, wagons and other vehicles for about 20 minutes.

The Deporter's Son Seizes His Release.

United States recruiting officers are investigating the story of Henry Eggers, who confessed to being a deserter from the regular army at Central Station. A son of the old man came to the city yesterday and secured his release, saying he was crazy on the subject of his desertion, which occurred 18 years ago. The matter had been adjusted with the Government, he said, but the old man still believed himself liable.
